COL. W. F. ALLEN

AFTER LONG ILLNESS

DIED LAST NIGHT

Col. W. F. Allen died last evening shortly after 6 o'clock at his residence, corner of Victoria and Beretania streets. Death came without pain, the Colonel never having fully recovered consciousness since the stroke of paralysis on Tuesday last. He had for the last eighteen months been an invalid and the last stroke completely affected one side. The remains will be cremated and the funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

William Fessenden Allen was born at Bangor, Maine, December 19, 1831. He attended Williams College and came to Honolulu for his health about 1859. He went to San Francisco, where he was employed in 1859 and 1861 with G. B. Post & Co. He returned to Honolulu in 1862. Mr. Allen was bookkeeper for C. L. Richards & Co., ship chandlers, in the whaling days. For thirty years he served the monarchical government as Collector-General of Customs, retiring during the reign of King Kalakaua in the latter part of Walter Murray Gibson's premiership. He was a member of the Privy Council. He gained his title of Colonel from having been chief of staff under Kamehameha V.

In 1865, Mr. Allen married Cordelia Church Bishop, cousin of Hon. C. R. Bishop, formerly of Honolulu, now of San Francisco, and of Senator E. Faxon Bishop of Honolulu. The deceased leaves besides his wife, a sister, Miss Allen, and a brother, a resident of New York. The latter was once Hawaiian Consul-General at New York.

Col. Allen's father was the late Hon. E. H. Allen, appointed chief justice of the Supreme Court of the Hawaiian Islands on June 4, 1857, which post he resigned February 1, 1877, to accept the position of Hawaiian Minister to the United States. He dropped dead in the White House January 1, 1883, during the administration of President Arthur.

Col. Allen was a Mason and Master of Hawaiian Lodge No. 184 to 1862. Colonel Allen came here in the American ship Eliza Warwick, on May 31, 1859, 130 days from Boston, in command of Captain Whitney. T. A. Marshall and Samuel Hubbard arrived in the same vessel.

Lord Byron was an old friend of Mrs. Tell's father, who was Captain Alexander Adams, the first pilot for Honolulu under the regime of Kamehameha I.

Mr. Tell was the youngest of five, of whom Mrs. William Allen and Mrs. Annie Phelps are her surviving sisters. Victoria Adams was married to Andrew Bannister in 1861 and her children by this marriage are Mrs. Chas. Lucas, Mrs. Henry Meyer, Mrs. William Wright, Mr. Andrew Bannister. ## MINNESOTA PEOPLE

HERE ON VISIT

PRASE HONOLULU

Fourteen tourists from Minneapolis, Minn., were entertained at a dinner given by one of their number, S. T. McKnight, at the Young Hotel Saturday evening, and many complimentary things were said by the guests concerning Honolulu and the island of Oahu in general. Mr. McKnight, the host for the evening, was a visitor to Honolulu a year ago and was so pleased with the climate that he could not resist the temptation of returning this season. He is one of the most prominent men of Minneapolis and has had large interests in lumbering, banking, real estate and manufacturing. He has now practically retired from business, and it is quite probable he will return, like the birds that each year fly southward, every winter to enjoy the congenial climate of this island.

To the people at his hotel, Mr. McKnight never tires of praising Honolulu. It is in his opinion that year by year will see this city grow more and more in popularity as a winter resort. He declares that in all the world there is no climate so perfect as that of Honolulu. The delightful surf bathing, the genial climate, the attractive appearance of the city, the excellent accommodations for guests at the hotels, the cordial attentions given visitors by the citizens of the city—all these and many other things he says will ever keep Honolulu before the world as an ideal home for the pleasure-seeker.

Mr. McKnight's friends agree with him concerning his opinion of Honolulu, although they all came together on the Siberia and have not yet had time fully to become familiar with the conditions here. That so many of the leading citizens of the Minnesota metropolis should come at one time to Honolulu is evidence of the good missionary work that has been done for the city by their fellow countrymen. It can readily be imagined from statements they have made that these in turn will go back to their northern home to speak of Honolulu as the Paradise of the Pacific and the commercial stepping stone between the Orient and Occident.

Among the tourists from Minneapolis is J. S. Bell, one of the wealthiest men of that city. J. E. Bell, a banker of Minneapolis, and Dr. W. S. Laton and T. W. Fromm, two leading men of that city, are also members of the party. P. J. Congrove, a retired lumber merchant of Chippewa Falls, Wisconsin, came with the Minneapolis tourists. He, too, expresses appreciation for the many attractions he has already found in Honolulu.

THERESA'S LUAU GREAT SUCCESS

The luau given by Princess Theresa Wilcox at her Kapahulu home last Saturday in honor of Judge Robinson was attended by a large number of people, among whom were many tourists to whom the novel form of entertainment was very interesting. Several large tables were spread and pig cooked in the imu, poi, squid, fish, etc., etc., was served in great abundance. After the spread a Hawaiian glee club furnished music and a couple of gentle maidens danced the hula. The guests were taken to and from the cars, and the late departure right into town, by stages and automobiles.

PACIFIC SOCIAL CLUB.

Saturday evening quite a crowd gathered at San Antonio Hall to enjoy the initial entertainment this year of the Pacific Social Club. Preceding the dance, in which almost every one present participated until a late hour, the following musical program was excellently well executed: Vocal selection and piano: Misses Carrie Borges, F. M. Chilton; guitar solo, Robert Jordan; zither and guitar, Ernest Bischof, Wm. Holokahiki; vocal selection and piano, "Little Lida" and Miss E. Hing; mandolin duet and guitar, Miss Mary Franca, R. Tuck, Jos. Baptist, piano solo, Miss I. Fernandez; banjo and guitar, Machado Bros.
